Baynes Says "Most Elaborate Prom Ever"

This year's Junior Prom will be held on the night of Friday, April 21, from nine until one at the Castaways North in Baltimore County. The Prom will be entitled "Le Joie de Printemps" and will take place in a springtime setting planned around this theme. The dance will be preceded by a cocktail party at Knollwood beginning at 7:30.

Mike Abromaitis (left) delivers his rebuttal as John Baynes prepares to deliver his. The debate was held in the lounge on Wednesday at 1:00 p.m. Both John and Mike are candidates for the President of the Student Council.

The music for the dance will be the airy music typical of springtime and will be furnished by Reds Popoli and his orchestra.

Pastel Program

The lively and very original program was designed by Joe McCurdy and John Valentini. The program will be in pastel colors and will feature a dedicatory poem about springtime.

President's Quote

The price of the dance will be $12.50, which makes this the most expensive Prom in recent history. However, John Baynes says that "this prom is expected to be the most lavish, the most luxurious, and the most elaborate in the recent history of Loyola College."

Glee Club Schedules Annual Spring Concert

On Saturday evening, April 22, beginning at 8:00 p.m., the Loyola College Glee Club will present its annual Spring Concert in Cohn Hall. A joint concert, it will be presented in conjunction with the Glee Club of Immaculata Junior College from Washington, D.C. The admission price is $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for all who are under twelve years of age, or who are students.

The two Clubs will then travel to Washington on April 23 for a concert at Immaculata at 8:00 p.m.

Latin, Lerner, Loewe

The combined numbers will be directed by Miss Virginia Reinecke, Loyola's capable director, and include Mozart's "Te Deum" and selections from "My Fair Lady," by Alan J. Lerner and Richard Loewe.

This will be the second concert of the semester for the Club; on April 9 a joint concert was given in conjunction with the Ville Julie Junior College of Stevenson, Md.

Glee Club officers include: Bob Wright, president; Walt Truszkowski, business manager, and Steve Pretl, the treasurer, all of whom are members of the senior class.

Other Officers

The remainder of the Club's officers are: junior Joe Baginski, the vice-president; junior Larry Ondrejack, the secretary, and Adelio Maccentelli, the sophomore librarian. Father Lawler is Moderator of the Club.

Dine & Dance

Tonight the students of Mt. St. Agnes College are holding a Mixer Buffet from 8 to 12 o'clock. All Loyola College students are invited to attend.

Polls Open Wednesday For Campus Elections

On Wednesday, April 26, the campus elections of the officers for the academic year 1961-62 will be held. Voting will take place in the lobby of the Student Union Building from 11a.m. until 3 p.m. The offices to be filled will include president of the student body, president of the Athletic Association, and all class officers of the present junior, sophomore, and freshman classes.

The most important office to be decided will be that of Student Body

President. Competitors for this position are John Baynes, Mike Abromaitis, and George Yurek.

James Kennedy

Dick Moore and Gerard Preis have announced their candidacy for Athletic Association President.

The presidential race of the class of '62 will see Louis French battle Richard Moore. William Garland, John Dinan, and Thomas Duffy are contending for vice-president. Candidates for treasurer include Brian Keegan, John Wessel and Lee Barnstein.

Lou French John Valentini and John Casey are running for secretary.

The office of Natural Sciences Rep. will be filled by either Thomas

Annulis or Joseph Baginski and the office of Social Science Rep. will be filled by either Joseph McCurdy or his opponent, Chuck Lancelotta Joseph Chepaitis.

William Lorenz and Lawrence Schwarzman, Dennis Homberg, and Frank Musotto vie for Business Rep. of the class of '62.

The presidency of the class of '63 will be filled by Edward Slawski, who is unopposed. For vice-president Peter Genovese will be opposed by Michael Potts and Charles Blair.

Buzz Rusinko Michael Rohm is unopposed in the race for secretary. Howard Weinberg, Tom Kenney, and James Collins are competing for treasurer.

Edward Conery and Page Fried vie for Social Science Rep. and Albert Dietz and Thomas Cosgrove compete for Natural Science Rep.

Wayne Thompson is unopposed in the race for Business Rep.

In the race for the presidency of the class of '64 Paul Montgomery Charles Lance-

Council Notes

At last week's meeting the Student Council received the reports of the Elections Committee and Loyola Day Committee.

John Jordan, Chairman of the Elections Committee, reported that the preliminary phase of this year's elections had been completed and that arrangements were now being made for supervision at the polls on elections day, April 26.

Jordan presented for the Council's approval two cases involving petitions that were received after the deadline. The first was that of Brian Copenhagen, who had left his petition at home on the day he was to have turned it in. Copenhagen contacted the committee and handed his petition to the committee representative the next day. It was established that this action was done in good faith, and the Council approved Copenhagen's candidacy.

Griffin's Plea

The second case involved sophomore Walt Griffin, who presented a valid petition for candidacy for the office of secretary of the class of '63, but had decided to run for the class presidency instead. Griffin circulated a petition for this office during the week after the deadline and presented it to the committee almost a week after the deadline. After dissolving into a committee of the whole and hearing Griffin present his case, the Council voted that this action was against the election ordinances and refused to recognize Griffin's candidacy.

Plan for May 5

The Loyola Day Committee reported that final arrangements were made with the athletic office for May 5.

There will be a Student Council meeting today at 10:00 a.m.

lotta is opposed by Paul Montgomery and John Rusinko. Stuart Harting and Brian Copenhagen battle for vice-president while Roddy Heyl and John Nozemack vie for secretary. Raymond Messick and Basil Brown compete for treasurer.

The two offices of representatives at large will be filled by either Richard Lawrence, Francis Walsh, Gerard Dotterweich or Stephen Agnes.

Recalling Proms of the Past

Tonight's Junior Prom, according to John Baynes, "is expected to be the most lavish, the most luxurious, and the most elaborate in the recent history of Loyola College." Fortunately, John used the phrase "recent history"; for the proms of old were mighty spectacular in their own right. Between 1933 and '43 many juniors attended proms, which they long remembered. It was not that it was a lavish affair; for country clubs in those years were few and very expensive. The annual affair was often held on campus; and occasionally at more adequate places such as the Alcazar or Sheraton Belvedere. Regardless of place, emphasis was placed on securing a good band; and some mighty good ones they had.

To quote from the May 8, 1935 Greyhound, "The music, in most everyone's opinion, can make or break a function of this kind . . . But for four forty he (the student) does look for some real music upon which his thoughts may later dwell pleasantly and about which he can boast to future promenaders." The prom that year was held at the Maryland Casualty Ballroom; and the orchestra was a promising one, Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey with Kay Weber and Bob Crosby." There is no doubt that the Dorsey Brothers will measure up to expectations and that their names, along with those other great instrumental performers who have played for Loyola, such as Jan Garber, Tal Henry, Ted Black, Joe Haymes, Ozzie Nelson, will long be remembered at Evergreen."

Other greats to perform at the prom were: Glen Garrett in '33, Larry Clinton in '39, Charlie Spivak in '41; and on May 31, 1943, music was provided by Stan Kenton's Band.

Times change but memories live on, at least if you are occasionally reminded.

the Watchdog

We have reports from the athletic department that tell us that Rick Campbell will be Loyola's number one discus tosser this year. We aren't a bit surprised because we've always known that Rick could really throw it.

A motto which we'd like to see hung in the Dell Building Supply Room: "If the shoe fits--you didn't get it here." Confidentially, this isn't the only thing that we'd like to see hung in the Dell Bldg.

We are a bit miffed over the fact that the person who made up the senior list on the Dean's board didn't include "Yogium Bear."

We are forced to retract a statement which appeared on the front page last week. John Feller is not the PR's permanent latrine orderly. This statement was an oversight on our part. That the PR's didn't have this position to give to John was an oversight on theirs.

Reports have it that Jerry Heegan has been attending classes recently in large, unsightly pajama tops instead of shirts. While this is pretty bad, it is still better than coming to school with large, unsightly pajama bottoms.

Speaking about large bottoms, Will Hoffman has informed us that he is now on a diet. His doctor has informed him that if he doesn't eat between meals, he will lose oodles of weight. We are of the opinion that his doctor is a quack, because if he knew Willy, he'd know that with him, there is no such thing as "between meals."

It has been overheard that some of the science students are figuring a way to build a still in one of the labs. "Better things for better living through chemistry."

Confidential to Jody Satterfield: The name is Gene Horan, not Jean Horan. What's the matter, pal, been off your spinach?

While walking through the Dell Building the other day, we managed to get a hold of the latest order. Quote: "Rain, rain, go away, come again some other . . ."

And now for something even funnier:

Phil Foard plays his vice-presidential elections across the board.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir,

Against the editorial note in the April 14 issue of The Greyhound, I feel obliged to respond with the following comment: No, Mr. Editor, the oversight was yours. You can't play Adam's game of "passing the buck." The first obligation of any writer is to get his facts straight.

Sincerely and in good humor,
Dr. Nicholas Varga.

A Greyhound Service Meet Your Candidates

Mike Abromaitis

In my three years as an active student at Loyola, I have witnessed a student body growing increasingly apathetic and indifferent; a student council isolated and apart from its students; too many vital problems gone uncorrected.

The school needs a fresh approach a more liberal attitude. It is best summed up in my slogan, "The New Look." First, I believe that more self-government could be granted the students. This responsibility could be placed in the hands of a Student Board.

Second, the students should be active participants in the council affairs. Frequent polls of student opinions would be a fine start.

Third, the intellectual life of the college should be stimulated. The initiation of needed co-curricular activities and less formal student-faculty relations would be a step in the right direction.

Fourth, the intramural system should receive the recognition and support from the school and students it deserves for its vital part in the life of the college.

These are but a few of the new ideas which I advocate in my "New Look." I realize that all of these proposals can be attacked as to their details, but they can work and must be tried. All I ask is a chance to be allowed to try the "New Look."

John Baynes

His experience in the S.C. is obvious. His unfailing interest in school activities is obvious; the accomplishments of the class of 1962 during his presidency are obvious; his leadership, displayed continually in the S.C. is obvious. What is equally obvious is the fact that the person in question is John Baynes, and that continuance of such action depends upon your votes of confidence in his ability to contribute something to you and to Loyola College as President of the Student Body. Some of his proposals are:

1. Increased representation of lower classes in the Student Council--why?--because the present Freshman class represents 35% of the Student Body and only 10% of the Student Council while the Senior class represents 19% of the Student Body, but 50% of the Student Council. I think this is unfair.
2. More participation on the part of the Student Body, that is, more surveys of student opinion petitions, cheerleaders at our basketball games, and more class competition.
3. More personal consideration of problems, such as, more ash-trays in the cafeteria, greater access to duplicating equipment, better furniture and equipment in the S.U.B. game room, and more advertising space for the student elections. Attend the Abromaitis-Baynes Debate for more details.

George Yurek

After attending Loyola College for almost three years now, I am tired of hearing how poor our school spirit is. Too often have I seen the same few students dominating every activity. I must admit this situation is ideal for developing leadership, but these few students are generally born-leaders. It has an opposite effect on the majority of us in that an attitude of "let George do it" arises. This situation is serious.

My answer to this problem lies in the unification of the efforts of all four years: teamwork. I want freshman and sophomores as well as Juniors and seniors to take part in the activities. In, short, I want 100% unity for Loyola.

Let Me At 'Em

by John Q. Feller

The following selection is hereby dedicated to those candidates who are wasting their time running for impossible offices, as well as to "we" Loyolans who have been forced to suffer under their trite tirades.

The Voters' Waltz

They're rioting at Evergreen.
They're acting like doves,
Soliciting your confidence
And grabbing your votes.

The campus is festering
With candidates galore,
Posting their 'bilities
On walls, doors, and floor.

Baynes's art is atrocious;
Mike and George are in dutch.
We don't like any of them
Very much!

But we can be thankful
And tranquil and proud,
For man's been endowed
With a mushroom-shaped cloud.

And we can be certain
That come Wednesday next,
Elections will be over
And that is the test.

They're rioting at Evergreen
So get on the boat,
And pick out your candidate,
And give him your vote.

Reign of Glory

Senior Rich Hauer ended his tenure of office as President of the Green and Gray Club with these closing observations: "All in all, I think I've been a pretty good President. In fact I've been a d--n good President!"

A Word From The Bird

In last week's column, I stated that Dave Carney "spent altogether about an hour on the basketball court this year during scheduled games." The Nebbish erred. Dave played altogether about eight or nine hours.

Medicinal Purposes Only

Last Sunday, the Beachcombers, in addition to their medley of songs, revealed some interesting behind the scene information. Among other things, those present learned of five bottles in the Dramatic Society's office. In all probability, the bottles were the ones used in the 'Male Animal,' minus the "colored water."

Most Pleasant

Sunday afternoon, John Healy and entourage went picnicking at Mount Pleasant. During the course of the afternoon, John put his father's transistor on top of his car. Naturally, John drove off without it; he's in the Intelligence Corps. Nebbish No.2 deserves a second Let Me At 'Em Salute for this.

Kingston Trio Confidential

Kingston Trio Confidential Quit plagiarizing.

Harbor Lights

Well, be prepared to go to the movies this weekend, because there isn't much else to do (if there is, let us know). There are a couple of interesting events, however, plus some worthwhile movies.

First, let's go with Ford's and "The Miracle Worker." Tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night will be the last performances of the play that was so successful on Broadway. Eileen Brennan portrays Miss Sullivan, the person who makes Helen Keller realize the existence of the things of the civilized world in which she lives.

This is the second week for "The Touch of Fear," given by the Vagabonds in the Vagabond Arena Theatre in the Congress Hotel.

Bob Newhart is coming to the Lyric with his "button-down mind" on April 29. "The King and I" is also coming to the Lyric on the second weekend in May.

The Four Corners Cabaret Theatre presents "The Drunkard" each Saturday at 9:30 and Sunday at 8.

The Orioles have a bouncer weekend with the New York Yankees—one tonight, one tomorrow afternoon and night, and one Sunday.

The Baltimore Lacrosse Club plays at Maryland tomorrow afternoon, and B. U. plays at Mt. Washington.

The Point-to-Point races continue tomorrow afternoon with the second of the three steeplechases, the Grand National, in Butler, Maryland at 3:30.

As far as movies go, "Make Mine Mink" is the hilarious crowd-drawer at the 5 West, and "By Jove" it is funny. The admiral is replacing the nurse at the Aurora in "Carry On Admiral."

"Gone With The Wind" is back, and although it is a four hour marathon, it shouldn't be missed; take a pillow. "Cry For Happy" stars Glenn Ford and Donald O'Connor as sailors on an island off the coast of China, known as Japan.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

by Dick Cooke

In the history of Loyola College, this past year adds up to one of the best with regard to the athletic program. Freshmen participation in inter-collegiate competition has been overwhelming this year with a good number of frosh representatives seeing action in all sports on the Greyhound schedule.

Forty Nine Frosh

No less than forty-nine freshmen have competed or are presently competing on the varsity level this year. Indeed, a good turnout.

The track team sports thirteen freshmen names on their roster this season and the outlook for the coming years in this field is very bright.

Lacrosse Coach Charlie Wenzel knows the need of a good freshmen turnout. There are ten freshmen on the lacrosse team this year, and half of them have pulled down starting berths.

The Greyhound swimming team also boasted of its six freshmen this year. This group, amassing 125.75 pts. this past season, contributed ably to the team's splendid overall record.

Coach Lefty Reitz also has some real good talent in the seven freshmen who made the baseball team. Three of the seven are regulars and two others are starting pitchers.

The Hound booters had six freshmen on their squad and four more joined the ranks of the grapplers.

Basketball, Golf, and Tennis seemed to be the sports which lacked freshmen participation the most. All in all, we can not complain.

Golfers Nip ShoreCollege

Coach Nap Doherty's linksmen ran their record to 2-0 last Monday by defeating Washington College by a score of 5½-3½. The Loyola players, captain Chuck Pessagno, Bill Mislowski, Tom Newbauer, Ed Conway, and Mike Kenney, were hampered by a soggy course and by the loss of a point, forfeited because of the lack of a sixth player. However, the Hounds came through under the added pressure to cop the match handily. Next Friday, they will play host to Mt. St. Mary's at the Mt. Pleasant course.

Peter Karczewski lays into it during batting practice.

That's not Gene Horan at the plate; but that is Jody Satterfield on the mound in the game with Harvard.

Track Team Meets JHU

Tomorrow at noon, the Hound trackmen will meet arch-rival Johns Hopkins at the Homewood oval. The Loyola-Hopkins track rivalry is one of the most fiercely contested ones in the Conference. A reason behind this is the fact that George Brown, the Jay coach, attended Loyola and was a great running star under Bill McElroy. George now takes great pleasure in showing how well he learned his lessons from "Mac" by trying to turn the tables on his former coach and teacher. This makes for quite a strategy contest between the two coaches and a doubly exciting meet for the spectators.

Loyola Whips Shoremen

Last Monday, the Hound track squad bounced back from its opening loss to Towson by downing Washington College, 71½-50%. Once again double winners Arnie Sapperstein and the two Ricks, Frampton and Campbell, led the Loyola effort. Sapperstein, M.D. champ in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, swept both sprints. He also pulled out the mile relay for the Hounds, coming from 20 yards behind on the anchor leg, Frampton won the mile and half-mile with ease and also ran a leg in the relay. Campbell triumphed in the shot and discuss tosses.

Team Effort

A total of 15 different men scored for Loyola, indicating a strong team effort. First places were registered by Hank McGraw in the two mile and Charlie Cherry in the high-jump. Tom Kenney took second in the 440, third in the 220, and also ran the second leg for the mile relay quartet. Bill Jenkins and Lew Smith each placed in both the mile and two mile events. Jerry Balda's fine effort in the shotput earned him a second place ribbon. Bill Smuck in the discus, sprinter Tony Ryan, broad-jumper Phil Pierpont, half-miler Paul Plack, quarter-miler Dan Leubcker, polevaulter Denny Lingenfelter and hurdler Tommy Vondersmith, all registered points from Loyola in this good, solid team victory.

Frosh Aid 'Crossers

Next Wednesday, the Hound lacrosse team will travel to the Johns Hopkins' campus to try to avenge last year's 20-0 drubbing. Hopkins, always powerful on the lacrosse field, will field a team which is probably as strong as last year's team.

Frosh Improve

Freshmen Stewart, Milligan, and Schaeffer have shown a great deal of improvement since the start of the season, and Coach Wenzel regards them highly. After a bout with ineligibility, Jacques Remmel is due to return to the starting lineup thereby bolstering the Hound attack.

Pilsch Top Scorer

Marty Pilsch, an attackman, leads the Hounds in scoring with 11 goals which places him among the top ten in the state also. Improvement can also be seen in goalie Page Fried and attackman Mike Abromaitis who have done an able job for the squad this year. Fried has twenty saves in each of his last three games.

Record 2-3

The Hounds have played hard in posting a 2-3 record thus far this year. The stickmen have defeated Swarthmore and Ohio State while losing to Penn State, Washington and Lee, and Cornell. All three of the Hound losses were hard fought and the latter two could have gone either way. The team would like nothing better than to give the Hopkins' squad a game this Wednesday which they will never forget.

Harrers Hasty Hound, Rick Frampton.

Hounds Host American U.

by Jim DeBoy

The Greyhounds face lots of baseball action this weekend. They play three home games in two days. Today the Hounds host American U. in a double-header beginning at 1:30. Last year Loyola defeated A.U. 2-0 in a single game. Tomorrow at 2:30, the Hounds meet Lynchburg College. Then on Tuesday, the Hounds travel to Towson State for a game at 3:00. Loyola will be out to avenge a 6-1 loss to Towson last year.

The Hounds split two games during the past week. Baltimore U. shutout Loyola and yielded only 5 singles to win 6-0. Phil Potter and Ed Burchell pitched creditable, but the Hounds couldn't mount any attack. Charlie Bree did manage 2 of the 5 hits to lead the Loyola batters.

Last Saturday the Hounds defeated Catholic U. 7-5 in an eleven inning game. Jody Satterfield pitched 8 1/3 innings and Phil Potter finished up for the win. C.U.'s Gene Horan tied the game in the 8th inning with a homer. Loyola scored 2 runs in the eleventh without a hit. The runs came on 3 C.U.'s errors and a sacrifice. Nick Jackson had two hits including a homerun to lead the Hound attack.

Loyola now has a record of 2 wins and 1 loss in league play. The Hounds have a chance to go all the way to Mason-Dixon Conference if the pitching improves and the hitters continue their good work.

Sports Final

The Hound Nine dropped another Wednesday. Baltimore U.'s Ron Mather pitched a three hit shutout, 12-0.

The Hound Harriers beat Western Maryland Monday.

Intramurals

The intramural softball competition began last week as the Flintstones downed the Comics 11-5 and the Sharks beat the Bloodclots 6-3. The Madball, Moleskins, and the Dukes are early favorites in this season's single elimination tournament. The action thus far has been hampered by bad weather and a lack of interest on the part of the student body. This "lack of interest" can also be contributed to the fact that the intramural basketball season has not yet been completed.

Pagans Beat Bears

In a game scarred with poor passing and equally poor shooting, Lamar's Pagans downed the freshmen Polar Bears last week 23-18, thereby reaching the finals in the intramural basketball competition. The finals will be held today at 10:00. The Pagans must win two straight games in order to cop the crown whereas the undefeated Handy-Six must win only one game.
